Once your thoughts are born, they tend to grow. Let me tell you a story. There was a man who worked with a refrigerated truck. While working, it happened that he got stuck in the freezer. He desperately cried out for help but nobody came because it was late at night. The next morning, he was found dead. But the truth was the freezer was out of order, so there was enough oxygen and the temperature wasn't so low as to threaten his life. His assumption that he would die was, in fact, the reason for his death. As you've heard, negative thoughts are like seeds, which eventually cause negative results.

M: Emma, are you done with the first draft of the front page for the school newspaper?
W: Almost, but I need your help with the layout.
M: Sure. Let me see it.
W: I chose a picture of students having fun during the school festival, and put it in the top center.
M: As we did last year? That may work. But, you think pictures next to each other would look nice.
W: Sounds good. Where do you want to put it?
M: I think two pictures right next to each other would look nice.
W: I agree. One more thing, do you think drawing a line around the page is necessary?
M: Hmm... No, not really. Let's keep it simple.
W: Alright. That's what I was thinking, too.
M: Can you apply those changes and have a second draft done by next Monday?

M: Are you practicing a magic trick for the school festival?
W: Yes, the show is next week.
M: Is it going well?
W: No, not really. I've been practicing with these cards all week, but they still slip through my fingers.
M: Don't worry, You'll get better.
W: Every time I think of myself on stage, I'm afraid I'll make mistakes.
M: Why don't you just imagine the spectators are your friends, like me?
W: I'm not sure if that will work for me.
M: Okay. Imagine that you are on the stage now. Show me your trick.
W: Alright, I'll try.
M: Take a deep breath, and just go for it.
W: (Pause) Oh no! I dropped the cards again.

M: What are you looking at in the catalog? Are those laptop computers or something?
W: Actually, they are electronic readers.
M: What are electronic readers?
W: They are like 'portable libraries.'
M: What do you mean by that?
W: You can download thousands of books onto these devices.
M: Yes. Amy and I will throw her a surprise party tomorrow. I want to buy her something to eat, you will definitely need a booth.
M: No, I'm going to call my friend who bought a refrigerated truck and see if we can take a look at it?
W: Sure. Let me see it.
M: That's incredible. Besides, you can save any parts of the books you like and share them with your friends through social networking sites.
W: Sounds terrific! So you are going to place the books and offer them to students?
M: Yes. I bought them for a Halloween party last year.

M: I'm writing a birthday card for my roommate, Yumi.
W: Yeah. Hey, look over there! Isn't it so fascinating that everyone here can see the stars in the night sky?
M: Yes, it is! We can also breathe in this fresh air with the people on the stage.
W: Exactly. By the way, what's the time?
M: Only five minutes to go.
W: I'm really looking forward to hearing the actors' voices this close from the stage.
M: Me, too. This structure was specially designed for delivering voices on the stage directly to the audience without microphones.
W: Ah... I think I'd better turn off my mobile phone. It's about to start.
M: I hope it doesn't rain until the show is over.

M: Hello, students. This is school president, Michael Griffin. Our annual fund raising party is coming up next month. This year there will be many enjoyable activities like the Dancing Queen Contest, the King Toon, the Giant Dice Roll, and so on. All activities will be held in booths. So, if your club is going to hold a booth, or sell something to eat, you will definitely need a booth.

This year, 24 booths are available and the site of your booth will be decided on a first-come, first-served basis. How can you apply for the booths? Visit our school's homepage, and you will find the application form in the EVENTS section.

Fill out and email the form to us. Club members, you'd better hurry!

M: We have a variety of shampoos in this section. Have a look.
W: There are many kinds. Can you recommend one for me?
M: Sure. Let me show you the two most popular products. This one is regular and the other is organic. They cost $15 and $30 respectively.
W: Hmm... Why is the organic one so expensive?
M: It makes your hair healthier and stronger. Plus, if you buy two or more, we'll take 20% off the price of the organic shampoo.
W: Oh, really? Give me two, then.
M: Good choice. Do you need anything else?
W: I need a lotion.
M: We have two kinds: one for dry skin, and one for sensitive skin. They cost the same $8.
W: I'll take one for dry skin.
M: Okay. Come this way, please.

12. M: Welcome to the Modern Art Exhibition. I am
W: Jessika Johanson, museum staff member. Before You move into the museum, I want to tell you about our audio guides. For your convenience, the museum provides audio guides. This device, which I am holding, will give you detailed explanations about the artworks on exhibit. There are three languages available – English, French, and Spanish. Its total length is two and a half hours.
To listen to an explanation, just type in the number of each artwork and press the Play button.
The numbers are next to each piece of artwork.
But not all the artworks have explanations. We charge 2 dollars per audio guide. Also, you must leave an identification card in order to use one of these devices. If you want to use one, please go to the information desk. I hope you’ll enjoy the exhibition.

13. M: We need to get off at the next stop to transfer. W: Don’t forget your bag and book.
M: Mum, for your safety, would you please take a step back?
W: Oh, sorry. I was not paying attention.
M: How much is this model train?
W: That’s just for display. It’s not for...
M: We are already late. Let’s just wait for the next train.

14. W: Ouch... My back hurts again.
M: That’s probably because you’ve been sitting at your desk for such a long time. Why don’t you do a short exercise to relieve the pain?
W: But I don’t have time for that! That’s the problem.
M: I will only take a little bit of your time.
Come on, I will teach you a simple exercise.
W: What is it?
M: Ten minutes of walking with a correct posture.
W: What is the correct posture, then?
M: Just walk for ten minutes holding your hands on your back so that you can stretch out your shoulders.
W: The point is to keep my posture straight,
right? How does it work?
M: They say walking in that way will help blood circulation and reduce the pain. It worked for me.

15. W: Hey, Mihoko. Do you have a minute? I have
M: What’s up?
W: I’ve decided to participate in the Eng.
speech contest.
M: Finally you are going for it!
W: Yeah... I really want to do well. You won the prize last year, didn’t you?
M: I did. It was quite an experience. By the way, how’s your progress?
W: I’ve finished memorizing my script. But when I practice it, I feel something is not right.
M: I know how you feel. Is it because your speech does not sound natural?
W: That’s right. How did you know that?
M: I had the same problem last year.
W: But your speech was excellent. How did you solve the problem?

16. W: Tom, are you still looking at that computer screen? Just go shopping at the mall this weekend.
M: Mom, I don’t want to spend my weekend at a crowded shopping center. Besides, the prices are much lower.
W: It’s already past midnight. Time to go to dl’
M: Mom, I’ve just found a good one.
W: Well, how can you know if it looks good on you without trying it on?
M: Just know it.
W: Don’t you remember that you returned the shirt you ordered online last time?
M: Well...
W: At that time, you had to pay shipping charges for returning it, right?
M: Umm... I hate to say it, but yes.

17. W: Kevin’s a good boy but has one problem.
The problem is that he is messy with his belongings. His room is always untidy and nothing is in order. Every time he tries to find something in his room, it takes a long time or forever. Even though his mother wants to tell him to keep his room clean, she has waited for the right time to talk about it. One day, Kevin wants to play baseball, and looks for his glove in every possible place in his room. Not surprisingly, he can’t find it. So, he asks his mother if she has seen it. Both have to spend some time until they find it. She thinks it is the perfect chance to let him know why he needs to arrange his things. In this situation, what would Kevin’s mother most likely say to Kevin?
Kevin’s mother: _______________________

W: You’re right. By the way, Dad doesn’t like to be in crowded places downtown.
W: That’s true. He likes quieter places in the suburbs. Plus, they especially love to see changes of scenery while driving.
M: Yes. We have only one option, then.
W: Okay, I’ll reserve a table for them before it’s too late.
